

Summary

2 minutes

Our goal was to show you how to evaluate whether you should consider blockchain technology when developing a solution. We developed some criteria you can use to guide your decision:

- How blockchain establishes trust between participants
- Performance considerations
- Business logic
- Azure options

Analyze your business process against each of these criteria. The results should give you an idea of how close a match blockchain is to your needs.

Module incomplete:

Go back to finish >

